

Auli.

Only FIS (Fédération Internationale de Ski) approved slope in India

Flanked by breathtaking natural vistas like coniferous forests, hilly terrains and oak fringed slopes, Auli is a place where natural beauty mesmerizes you with its magnetic charm. Nestled at around 2800 metres above the sea level, Auli offers a spectacular view of some of the tallest peaks of the Himalayas in general, and Nanda Devi- the second highest peaks of India, in particular.

Apart from being the cynosure of tourism, Auli offers the thrills of exploratory long distance skiing. If you are an adventure aficionado and want to invest in a place that offers spine chilling action then there is no better place other than Auli to turn your dreams into reality. The place is aptly known as 'the heaven for winter activities in India'.

Auli is brimming with immense business opportunities. Come, explore!
