

8. Har-ki-Doon Trek

Grade: *

Summer - 9 days

Rishikesh - Sankri - Taluka - Osla -
Har_ki_Doon - Osla - Sankri -
Rishikesh

Har-Ki-Doon, the hanging valley of Gods is a treat for trekkers. This moderate-difficult trek takes you to one of the least explored regions of Garhwal. The best time to go for this trek is either June-July or October. The rest of the year is either very cold and wet, or the valley is mostly shrouded by clouds. The beautiful scenery and the glistening snow clad Swargarohini peak are the main attractions. As Har-Ki-Doon falls within the Govind Pashu Vihar, chances of seeing wildlife are very bright. In September-October, chances of seeing wild flowers are also good.

Osla, one of the most beautiful villages in the Fateh Parvat region, should not be missed. Here, you have a beautifully carved temple dedicated to Duryodhana, the Kaurava Prince. And if you are interested in glaciers than Jaundhar Glacier is just about 8 kilometers from Har-Ki-Doon. It is a steep climb and requires some mountaineering skills. The glacier is situated at an altitude of 4300m.
